Recommendation

“ I first became acquainted with Steven when I was a regular attendee at the monthly BayCHI meetings and workshops. I'm particularly impressed by his education in information architecture and user experience design research. When I was unemployed for eight months in 2014, Steven gave generously of his time to help me figure out how someone with my skill set can contribute to product success. He explained the differences between information architecture, user experience design, user-centered design, usability, and interaction design, and I was finally able to identify myself as a user experience researcher. In addition, he helped me develop an effective portfolio that helped me get jobs.

I strongly recommend Steven for a full-time permanent job in his chosen field; I would definitely want him on my product development team. ”

Nicki L. Davis, Ph.D.
User Experience Researcher/Writer

Recommendation

“ Steven was an excellent mentor for me. He is an expert user design researcher, information architect, interaction designer, user experience designer, technical writer, project and product manager, prototyping, HTML/CSS coding, and usability tester. His educational background exhibits all of these professional skill sets, including his online portfolio. I would most definitely recommend him to any and all potential employers for full-time permanent jobs. ”

Recommendation

“ Of course, I’d recommend Steven without any doubts to future employers for a full-time perm employment situation. I’d like to take a moment to put in an excellent word about him and all his hard work as a mentor to me. Thanks to you Steven for being such a superb mentor for me. His education and background are solid and his online portfolios at <https://www.stevenheitman-ia.com/> and hard-copy portfolios demonstrate all of professional skills. He is most definitely an expert of user design research, information architect, navigation designer, interaction designer, and user experience designer. He naturally has other skills in tech writing and prototyping and usability testing that extends into project and product management, including HTML and CSS coding, though his focus is right now is in user design research and user experience design and management. ”

Ivan Plakhov, B.S.
UX/UI designer

Recommendation

“ Steven mentored me and assisted me in producing high-quality hard-copy portfolios. I was impressed by his creative suggestions about organizing, developing, and producing portfolios. His educational background/majors are in information architecture and user experience design and management, including technical writing. Two theses reports on information architecture, navigation systems design, and usability testing; his ability to understand the entire cycle for developing digital products is comprehensive. Steven is an expert in his chosen field of information architecture, user-centered design, user experience design, prototyping, and usability testing. His skills are definitely an asset to potential employers and hiring managers. While his educational background is beyond the norm, it makes him more qualified in his chosen field. I recommend him without any reservations. Your organization and teammates would surely benefit from having him on their teams. A very mature and personable person, he is able to successfully deliver projects. His information architect/experience design and user research skills are an asset and very insightful. Since his user/design research is valuable, he applies critical thinking skills coupled with research on projects. In the long run, it benefits all end users and digital design products. These are all excellent reasons why you should hire him, since his qualifications and expertise qualify him! ”

“ Steven was my student at City College of SF for CNIT 132 class - Intermediate HTML & CSS and he demonstrated to be a very dedicated and detail-oriented person. He came to the class with a very nice background in design and got the chance to sharpen his HTML & CSS code according to standards. ”

Ms. DaSilva, B.A., M.A.

(Electronic Engineering with an emphasis in Computer Technology;
Adult Education, Distance Learning)

Web Dev Full-time Instructor at CCSF, Adjunct Faculty IVC;
President of RC Promotions, Inc.; Director of DV Futsal

Recommendation

“ Steven is an expert researcher, user experience designer, information architect, and navigation systems designer. His skills extend largely and deeply into information architecture, navigation systems design, usability testing, user-centered design principles and application, mentoring, managing, and effectively directing. Being naturally a self-starter and able to work without supervision, he gets projects done without a problem. Steven is able to build and lead teams, successfully envision successful design solutions, deploy excellent design-architect strategies that encompass various phases of design research, efficient prototyping (paper based or using Axure), HTML5/CSS3 coding, insightful leadership skills, including significant usability testing application and expertise. Steven’s undergraduate-level and graduate-level degrees in information architecture, user experience design, management has indeed completely prepared him for specific work in his chosen industry. His many years of design research in information architecture, user-centered design experience, and original design research are an asset to any potential employer. Because he is an expert with an excellent track record, he will go far in his chosen career path as an information architect, user experience designer, and director of user experiences. ”

“ Steven is a wonderful person. He taught me lots of great stuff about User Experience Design (UXD), User Information (UI), and Information Architecture (IA). I’ve known him for a few years. He is very detail oriented, and he helped me on reviewing my portfolio. I do recommend Steven as being an expert in User Interface Design, User Experience Design, and a solid Information Architect. ”

Mr. Ng, B.A., Cert. (Digital Communication; Media/Multimedia)
Account Management Specialist at TechSoup Global

Recommendation

“ Steven left no doubt regarding his information architect, user experience designer, mentor, director, expertise and skills. After an online prototype of my website [refer to LinkedIn Profile] was finished, I consulted with Steven regarding user-centered design and usability issues. He assisted me in doing a brief competitive analysis, heuristic evaluation, navigational systems design, Web page layout, wireframe mockups, typography and design, search engine optimization (SEO), HTML5 and CSS3, organization, labeling, and interface design. His input was valuable and immediately brought successful and fast improvements for user-centered design, interaction design, overall consistency, and interface design. No doubt, far beyond question, surely these improvements in user-centered design would increase usability and ability for a profitable e-commerce Website. His ability to communicate exhibited an excellent level of people skills, a sincere desire to assist others in a helpful respectful manner, high IQ for developing awesome digital design products, insightful management acumen, and in full command of his expertise as an information architect and director. I would recommend him for employment opportunities in his chosen field—an expert information architect and director. ”

“ Steven has all of the necessary skills to work professionally as an information architect, interaction designer, project manager, technical writer, graphic designer, art director, instructional designer, teacher, or in any related field. Steven has strong analytical and reasoning skills far above the average students I have worked with over the years in my teaching career.

I can provide you with an excellent and high recommendation for Steven because he is an asset to any company he works for in a job. ...a successful information architect, project manager, technical writer, instructional designer or in other positions at any company. His work for me included research, technical writing, creating blueprints, and communicating his information architectural concepts. Steven’s oral and written communication skills are above average—especially his ability to formulate and analyze complex materials for information architecture, interaction design, or related fields. Since his achievements are tremendous and above average, I absolutely recommend Steven without any reservation for any position given his skills (full-time position or any internship). “ I’m really impressed with the site. It’s got a very professional look and feel to it. I’m impressed by the strong visual/graphic contrast. It helps to differentiate areas of the tutorial. I also liked that you employed an engaging and reassuring writing style. It fits with the intended audience. It’s a smart move, because the subject matter and the scope of the tutorial could be perceived as a little intimidating to a beginner. For someone like me, who has little to no experience with this subject matter, the writing style was comforting. I felt at ease embarking on the tutorial. Nice work. Really well done! ”
