Re: Steven Heitman
Letter of Recommendation for Employment

To Whom It May Concern:

I've known Steven for many years. I'm really impressed with his awesome Information Architect, User Experience Design skills. While he has spent a significant amount of time completing his specialized education and doing internships relevant to his profession, his unique qualifications and intelligence are equal to the task of providing your company with high-quality work.

Because I've known him for so long, I can speak about the excellent qualities he brings to your company. He's a self-starter, creative asset, personable, mature, and honest. When he starts a job, he completes all of his tasks successfully and on time. He is always willing to go the extra mile to get things done right. He cares about the quality of his work product—his information architecture conceptual designs and designs—his main focus these many years, doing Information Architecture and User Experience Design are excellent and on target. Agreeably so, one might argue that he hasn't really worked in his profession. Economic downturn prevented him from working in his profession, not due to lack of skills or motivation. He obtained a specialized education, graduating successfully from every program with honors and awards. His unique credentials and vocational certifications provided him with specific skills in Information Architecture, Design, and technical writing. Other components to his programs were relevant internships and contractual work experiences, which he completed successfully.

Steven is a professional Information Architect and User Experience Designer. Because I've known him personally and know that he is a high achiever, I recommend him to you for employment without any reservations. I believe his unique qualifications and professional attitude make him an asset to your company. His skills rank way above average. His accomplishments in life are excellent. His credentials and experiences add value to your company. Steven is a dependable and trustworthy person that has high a work ethic. Because he is an expert and specialist in his field, you can count on him for professional services. I'd be delighted to speak with you at any time about his unique qualifications and why he an asset to your company. If you desire to talk with me, please call me at (415) 641-1418.
